As you all may have noticed; my class have LOVED creating trolls and drawing them with soft pastels. Last week... or earlier this week the children decided they wanted to go to each class today dressed in rainbow colours like happy trolls and spread positive highs and happiness to others. At first the children were keen to give everyone a party with lollies and balloons (is your heart melting?) but due to the size of our school the children compromised and we came together with the plan of visiting every .6 class and the office with a special message and a sweet poster made just for them by us.

Today we walked through the school delivering positive messages, smiles and joy. It took an hour but we were so happy to spread happiness around our school community before the holidays began.

The children also loved their last food related activity today... eating fairytale FUNday sundaes while watching the movie Trolls. ❖❖❖❖❖

Such a perfect day to end a perfect term. ❖❖

A special thank you to Roxy from Nurture Cards.

Thank you for inspiring us and giving us such positive messages that we read daily.

- You have guided me with opportunities to bring affirmations & meaningful thought provoking discussions into my classroom. You should be so proud of yourself for providing not only us with this amazing opportunity but also everyone else who has your cards & CD. xx

Thank you Roxy.
